

THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1745.

arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Warsaw, January 4

I S. Majesty, notwithstanding the fine Compliment made him on the Part of the King of Prussia, does not make it his Choice to take Breslau in his Way to Dresden, but is to make his Journey by the Way of Prague. M. Kalkoen, who is come hither to execute a Commission of great Importance, has paid his Compliments to the High Mightinesses of the States General, and has been received with the most elegant and agreeable. It is affirmed, that one great End of this Treaty is already to be made, and that there is great Reason to hope it will be made before the Court sets out for Saxony. There is a great Dispute among our Grandees, as appears by the Resigning of the Post of Great Captain, with which he was honoured after the Separation of the late Dyet at which high Office has, upon his Resignation, been conferred upon Count Sedelnicki. It is reported that the Departure of the Court will be again in a Week or Ten Days.

January 15. Several Couriers have arrived from London; the first brought his Majesty's Orders, with respect to the French Troops, who had been very much discharg'd on their Parole. The King, approves of the Conduct of the Bailiff of Elbeuf, and has directed, that these Prisoners shall be kept, till he shall otherwise dispose of them; receiving these Orders, the Regency immediately ordered the Guards to be doubled. The Regency had as to the French Troops having added the Country of Hesse Cassel, are destitute of Food; for there are no Foreign Troops there, to come thither. It is however true, that they have taken Winter Quarters in the Territory of Arnstadt, on the other Side the Main, and give us no great Uneasiness; because, in all they will not stay even there long, the Army is growing every Day more numerous, and they are nearer and nearer. A few Days ago a Lieutenant in the King of Prussia's Army was arrested here, by way of Reprisal for the committed by some of his Countrymen on our Soldiers; and this Morning we learn, that the Prussian Army, at Minden, M. de Grothausen, Captain of the Service of this Electorate. We very much are at the Motives to these quick Steps on both Sides, at the same time, a little impatient to see, they will end. Our last Letters from Berlin are, notwithstanding they have been for some time, to Military Preparations, yet there never been equal to those that are now making; and positively said, his Majesty will take the Field in the Beginning of March.

January 14. The following Paper has, Time, been handed about here; and it is pre- contains the Propositions made by one of us at War, to an Electoral Court, by Way of Peace, for a new Peace, and a new War.

English Usquebaugh

THE Importers and Advertisers of IRISH USQUEBAUGH, which they sell at 25 Shillings per Gallon, having been extravagantly lavish in their Commendations of it, and endeavouring to insinuate, with equal Modesty and Truth, that there is something so peculiar Hibernian in this Composition, that it is impossible to prepare it in any Part of the World so well as at Dublin or Drogheda:

At the Desire of several Gentlemen, who look upon this Peculiarity to consist rather in Price than Excellence, and in order to do Justice to the Produce and Manufacture of our own Country, these Importers and Advertisers are called upon to answer the following Queries:

Whether the Distilling Trade has not been much more improved in England than in Ireland?
 Whether in the whole Composition of their Irish Usquebaugh there is a single Ingredient, which is not to be had in as great Plenty, and in full as great a Degree of Perfection, at London, as at their favourite Places Dublin or Drogheda?

And if the above Improvement has been made here in the Distillery, and we have the finest Saffron in the World, besides Plenty and Excellence of every other requisite Ingredient, Why may we not make as fine Usquebaugh as at either of the above-mentioned Places?

While their Answer is preparing, that an Appeal may lie before the Publick, as well as before these interested Gentlemen, a London Distiller, who desires no other Recommendation of his Usquebaugh than what may result from a fair Trial, begs Leave to inform the Nobility and Gentry, that a Warehouse is open'd opposite to Garraway's Coffee-house in Exchange-Alley, where (for Ready Money) is exp'd to Sale, a large Parcel of English Usquebaugh, Green and Yellow, at 24s. per Gallon.

Where else may be had, Citron Water, not inferior to the Foreign, it being made of the finest Citrons that could be purchased, at the same Price; fine Spirits of Saffron at 16s. per Gallon; Coffee Warer, Spirits of Cinnamon, Spirits of Clary, Spirits of Tansey, and fine Ratafia; at 10s. per Gallon; Spirits of Mint, Spirits of Caraway, at 8s. per Gallon.

Note, Gentlemen, by sending a Message to the above-mentioned Place, may be waited on with Samples at their own Houses.
